Frequently Asked Questions:

Are there any limitations as to who can do the Track Experience?

They must simply have a valid driving licence and a willingness to listen and learn.....or at the very least abide by the rules.

Is track driving experience required?

No experience is required and we will provide expert driving tuition.

Can this experience be shared?

Absolutely, on an individual event the participant can bring up to two friends with them, both of whom will be allowed to drive.

Is this just another 'track experience' where you get 6 laps and then off?

No! This is quite the opposite, there are no rev restrictions, no cap on the number of laps and participants will be encouraged to get the most out of the cars under expert tuition.

Where are the track days held?

The track days are held at a variety of race circuits across the UK. The main ones are shown on the map opposite but this is not an exhaustive list.

Can the Track Experience be used as a team building day?

Absolutely, we would recommend that you do not exceed three drivers per car booked, to allow plenty of driving for everyone. A track day can be an excellent way to get both employees and clients away from the work environment, lower their guard, and provide you with months worth of relationship building memories.

What happens if someone crashes/breaks a car?

There is an insurance excess which is payable if a car is damaged, the excess is fixed at £3,500 for all car types, but can be reduced to £500 if the CDW is paid for in advance.

Rest assured that unavoidable mechanical failures will not be charged for, and normal wear and tear is included.
